FACE Contracting looks forward to Western Australia expansion in 2020

AUSTRALIA - Mining and construction contracting outfit FACE Contracting has established a second office in Kalgoorlie, Western Australia. The office is set to open in January 2020 and FACE Contracting has launched a new website along with the expansion.

To look after the new Western Australia office, FACE Contracting is pleased to announce the appointment of John Barnes as Operations Manager for Western Australia. John is a highly knowledgeable mining professional with over 25 years' experience in mining. His approach of incorporating practical experience and quality working relationships puts him on top as a truly passionate and innovative leader within the mining industry. Get to know John's full story on episode 61 of the Full Production podcast.

"We are looking forward to getting an office operational on the ground here in Kalgoorlie. It will benefit our current clients and partners with our presence in Kalgoorlie," says Barnes.

The expansion comes in time for the 10th anniversary of the company's founding. To date, FACE Contracting has contributed over 250,000 + man-hours to mining and construction projects around Australia.

"Our expansion to WA has been a strategy in the making for the last two years. We are looking forward to getting officially set up and some boots on the ground in the new year, making our labour solutions and other services more available around Australia," says Peter Finn, Managing Director of FACE Contracting.

FACE Contracting is currently accepting resumes for those interested in Western Australia-based positions. If you or someone you know has experience in management, supervisory or technical roles, operational roles, or trade experience you are encouraged to make an expression of interest. For a full list of roles we are currently recruiting for, please see our listing on our vacancies page or JobHub.

About FACE Contracting

FACE Contracting is a mining contracting outfit that specialises in delivering workforce management services, mechanical & rebuilding services, as well as safety & training consulting for a variety of project scopes and sizes in the mining and civil industries, including underground, surface, and civil projects.

Founded in 2010, FACE started out as an OHS&T consultant company in the mining industry. As FACE continued to develop, they introduced labour-hire and recruitment as well as mechanical services to offer an integrated service for mining operations.

Their rapid maturation has made a mark in the industry, carving a spot as a reliable, quality service provider to the communities they work in. FACE Contracting now operates in New South Wales, Western Australia, Queensland, and New Zealand.
